

RULLY

An exclusive, patented model from Terreal, the Rully is unique amongst all other interlocking tiles on the market.

The secret of its inimitable visual appeal? The landscape format using a small-mould tile, enabling it to reproduce as accurately as possible the visible sections of traditional small plain tiles. Moreover, the Rully offers all the benefits of an interlocking tile: light weight, low cost, rapid installation time and the ability to be used on shallower slopes.

Flatness and slight curves.

The Rully combines perfect geometric flatness and mechanical resistance thanks to the quality of the raw materials and the expertise of the Chagny tile factory. The edge is subtly curved, giving it the arched look of traditional plain tiles.

Optimum safety

Rully tiles have an exceptionally large coverage area and use specially designed interlocking systems on both sides of the tile. These ensure wonderful water resistance for your roof, with coverage of 20 tiles per m<sup>2</sup>.
